RENTAL SERVICES

Now Ingersoll Rand Rents the Air You Need, the Way You Want It

Emergencies and long-term planning for compressed air both require distinct actions to keep your facility running efficiently. Take the guesswork out of balancing equipment costs and fluctuating demand with Ingersoll Rand Rental Services.

Lower your total cost of ownership by installing a flexible rental system that meets all your needs: indoor or outdoor, oil-free or oil-flooded, short or long-term. You get the same world-class reliability, service and expertise without a large capital investment.

This is compressed air your way!

Get Uptime in No Time

Equipment goes down. Natural disasters occur. Immediate access to a global network of rental air compressors, and reliable, trained technicians, keeps you running, regardless of the emergency. Unplanned events don't need to halt business. Minimize costly interruptions by knowing today where you will turn if your system goes down tomorrow.

Prepare for Changing Demands

Stay ahead of planned downtime and anticipate seasonal demand increases with a contingency plan designed for your facility's needs. From financial analysis and risk assessment to system prioritization and plant evaluation, you'll have the knowledge you need to cost-effectively scale your air demands, no matter the situation. The more prepared you are, the quicker you'll be back up and running at peak efficiency.
